In the evening the three men (go) went to the theatre and (come) came back to the hotel very late.

"I (be) am very sorry," (say) said the clerk of the hotel, "but our lifts (work, not) aren't working tonight. If you (want, not) don't want to walk upstairs to your room we (make) make beds for you in the hall."

"No, no," (say) said one of the three men. "No, thank you. We (want, not) don't want to sleep in the hall. We (walk) will walk up to our room."

Then he (tell) told his two friends, "It (be, not) was not easy to walk up to the forty-fifth floor, but I (think) think I (know) know how to make it easier. On our way to the room I (tell) will tell you some jokes. Andy (sing) will sing us some songs. Then Peter (tell) will tell us some interesting stories."

won't be

So they (begin) began to walk upstairs to their room. Tom (tell) told them many jokes, Andy (sing) sang some songs. At last they (come) came to the thirty-fourth floor. They (be) were tired and (decide) decided to have a rest.

"Well," (say) said Tom, "now it (be) is your turn, Peter." "I (tell) will tell you a sad story," (say) said Peter. "We (leave) left the key to our room in the hall."
